Houston (David Liakos)?

3. New Journal for Gadamer Studies

The Journal of Gadamer Studies (JGS) is now accepting submissions for its inaugural issue, which will be published in spring 2026. The JGS welcomes original submissions in English concerning the philosophy of Hans-Georg Gadamer and its legacy. Additionally, the JGS welcomes translations of Gadamer's essays and reviews of books pertaining to Gadamer.

The JGS is an open access journal hosted by Texas A&M University and is published biannually.

4. Conference Submissions

This was a banner year for conference submissions. We received nearly 30 submissions (almost a dozen from graduate students) and accepted 6 papers.

5. Treasurer's report

We currently have ~$7000 in our account. This provides us with some flexibility.

6. EC elections

Carlo DaVia's term is ending. He is willing to run for re-election.

David Vessey is stepping down.

An email will be sent out to membership to solicit additional nominations.

7. New business

None.
